Enthusiasm and school spirit were contagious emotions for Lakewood students. The year was packed with action and sped past at an alarmingly rapid rate. For sophomores, it was an exciting new challenge to make new friends and to study invigorating subjects. Many juniors applied their knowledge to improve their grades and to open new horizons. Seniors were the ones to watch, as they made their spirited sprint toward graduation. No matter what path was taken, Lancers made certain that their school's reputation for both academic and athletic excellence was unmatched.

1. A spirited sophomore football team was prepared to take on arch-rival Millikan. 2. A new student brought grins to the faces of Yvonne Livingston and Arianne Shrider. 3. Smooth sailing was a thrill for John Baldwin and Tracey Colvin while they were aboard the Gondola Getaway. 4. Knott's parachute ride provided an exhilarating experience for Gina Irarte and Bridgette Payne. 5. Damion Easley gathered some helpful pointers from Montreal Expo star, Mike Fitzgerald. 6. Cutting in and out of traffic, Don Stevenson raced to the fire. 7. Brenda Silverstein smiles as she receives a whale of a kiss. 8. Fame brought out the best in Ronnie Torres. 9. No group possessed more spirit than the Drill Team. 10. Diana Dena and Julie Lyons caught the spirit!

Pride and effort were necessary ingredients to make achievements worthwhile, and Lancers were extremely proud of their accomplishments. Hours of practice or homework were only stepping-stones to quality; a dedication to perfection was also essential. While excellence in academics was the primary goal of each student, excellence in many other fields was also obtained. Sports took great strength and agility; the Lancers were there ready to take on each challenger. Music, drama, ROTC, stage crew and clubs also provided avenues to success. Whether academic, athletic or extracurricular, perfection was the goal.

1. By leaps and bounds, Coach O'Neil taught the baseball team to recover fly balls. 2. The Second Chapter Singers gave some of the most inspired performances of the year. 3. A quick and steady hand-off was all Shawnette Eddins and Nydra Phillips needed to win. 4. Dyna Thach, Ath Chheang and their friends enjoyed learning from Mrs. King. 5. Panther cheerleaders never looked so good until Doug Rainier and John Dintelmartn took on the role. 6. Gustavo Guerrero had no trouble stopping nearly impossible shots. 7. Eileen Donley showed off her talents as a jester at the Renaissance Faire. 8. Grace and skill were displayed by Nicki Armstrong. 9. The Cabinet shared some weekend fun at Skate Depot. 10. Chalk up another awesome bunker shot for Ming Lao. 11. Mr. Stobbe was extremely pleased with Debbie Deister's project. 12. Lancer pep squads had the spirit.

As September approached, the new crop of sophomores were nervously anticipating the next three years. There were a myriad of new names, new faces, new teachers and new subjects to learn. At the same time, many sophs elected to become involved in such school activities as their class senate, student government, homecoming, Sophomore Writes, Drill Team, ROTC and all of the sports offered by the school. As the class of '89 began their journey, they also began making memories that would be cherished for a lifetime.

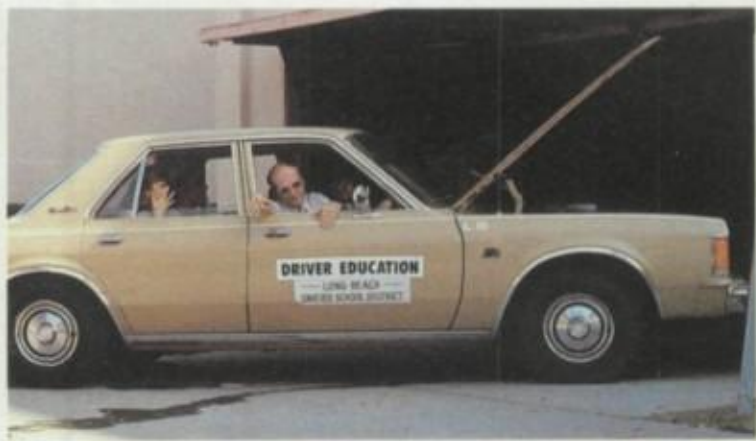

1. A double feature at the Paradise was afternoon entertainment for Mike McNeil and Kelly Lefebvre. 2. An emphatic gesture made Rusty Wall's point clear. 3. Cinderellas from the Sophomore Senate were prepared to ride the pumpkin coach. 4. A warm LHS welcome was given to Matt Cohen by Mr. Evans. 5. Walking was a popular mode of transportation. 6. Ms. Ober gets down to business with the Sophomore Writes staff. 7. A small mistake stresses out Mr. Foerster. 8. The sophomore test is administered by Nurse Lee. 9. Rallies were sure to draw such spectators as Matt Paige, Robbie Fraser and Shannon Witt. 10. Famous author, Mr. Whittington, was the center of attention at the autograph party held in his honor. 11. Lori Pehoski and her friends were certain to draw attention as they came to school. 12. Intermediate algebra posed no problem for Stephanie Velarde with Mr. Seyler's help.

No matter how many homework assignments piled up untended, no matter how many chores around the house were not done, every Lancer had the time to kick back and have a good laugh with friends. At every turn, someone came up with just the right joke or a novel twist to convulse his buddies. The urge to be impulsive was universal; everyone got in on the act. Teachers more than matched their students' inventiveness as they used humor in the classroom to convey their subject matter. Water and food were two of the ingredients often used to make people laugh, as teachers awakened sleeping students and pies were tossed in faces to everyone's delight. At least half of the joy of attending school was to be creative and to make sure that there was never a dull moment in each and every day.

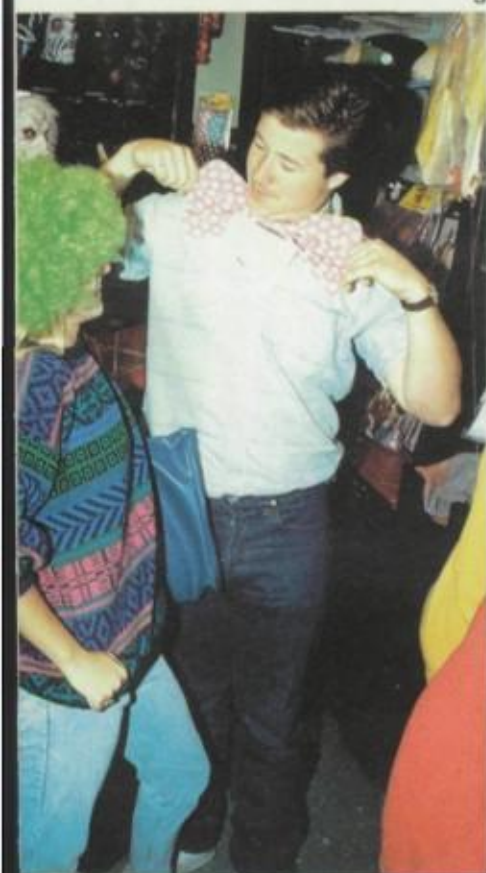

1. Kim Harpham registered disbelief as she is grieved by David James. 2. At times, the impulse to play policeman overcame Mr. Neely. 3. A sharp eye was an invaluable tool for Mr. Miller as he taught Debbie Thompson the feeding habits of the frog. 4. Gerardo Gonzalez helps Diana Dena take the plunge. 5. William Tell would have winced at the carrying on of Laura Cabral and Scott Clark. 6. Sartorial splendor was epitomized by Doug Rainier. 7. What was the girls' swim team doing in the Naples fountain? 8. Sleeping students found no pity from the ever-watchful Mr. Wigod. 9. Boston cream pie was an irresistible treat for Elizabeth Bolla.

What was the secret that led to so many Lancer achievements? Why were Lakewood teams often not only contenders, but captors of coveted Moore League championships? How come the amount of scholarship money received by LHS students grew at such a rapid pace each year? What were the factors that gave Lakewood High School the winning edge? Such success took a combination of qualities that were unique to the school; dedication, enthusiasm, ability, and the willingness to always do the best possible job were certainly among the most important factors. However, Lancers also had a certain magic working for them in the form of a caring staff, supportive parents and even a little luck. The ability to wrap all of these attributes into a single entity was the crucial part in making sure that LHS was always on the winning edge.

1. The Archer Sisters were cheered on to victory by their teammates. 2. Enthusiasm was a contagious emotion as Tina Vandiver led the pepsters onto Center Stage. 3. Hours of practice allowed Jim Kuhn to easily clear the bar. 4. The Lancer Regimental Drum Line always brought home the honors. 5. Not even the fire department could dampen the spirit of the girls' tennis team. 6. Another fine solo performance is turned in by Eric Soth. 7. Amazing skateboard feats were a speciality of Eric DeHaas. 8. Jettisoned from the deep, super H<sub>2</sub>O artist Eric Smith made the crucial pass.

From formal to trendy, almost anything went when it came to clothing styles for 1987. A wide array of fashions was worn by both the Lancer faculty and student body. Some chose to be more relaxed in their overalls and denim jackets, while others dressed to impress. The original southern California look, the "surfer" style, never went out of fashion and even added some wildly colored shorts. Guess jeans and apparel made a big splash, while hats made a "head start" on the fashion scene.

1. Brian Collison displayed his dreams for the future. 2. Many different hats were popular with Derek Vunak, Sonny Griffin, Jason Potter, Hector SantaCruz and Mark Wauben. 3. Shannon Hernandez, Hazel Chavarria, Tami Bunnett and friends model their stretch pants and sweaters. 4. "Dashingly suave" was truly the name for Messrs. O'Neil and Wigod. 5. Overalls weren't just for farmers anymore as proved by Gina Costello, Tiffany House, Kara Mostajo and Vicki Davis. 6. Suspenders were a fling for Angela Clark and Jeremy Pilchman. 7. Matt Pellerin stocks up on surfer wear. 8. Mrs. Cobb was one of the best-dressed faculty members. 9. Wild shorts are modeled by Steve Adler and Milton Robinson. 10. Dressing up was always in style for Betsy Norman and her friends. 11. Jean jackets came in a variety of colors and styles as shown by Michelle Narvez, Joey Lujan and Rachael Chavez.

Lancers had a particular knack for making others feel appreciated. Whether it was a gift for a unique teacher, a box of goodies for a secret, or just a simple hug for someone special, these gestures of goodwill and friendship brought students at Lakewood High closer together. The celebration of certain occasions was done with gusto and style. Decorated lockers and birthday bashes on the campus lawn were only two of the many forms used to make someone's day one to remember. What could be a better finale for seniors after taking the grueling SAT than spending the rest of their Saturday at Disneyland? No matter what form it took, simple or complex, "cheers" meant many friends, lots of fun and many memorable experiences that would last a lifetime.

1. Celebration of Halloween was a must for Cathy Heiss and John McMillan. 2. Tom Hicks proved that Mr. Cole could be force fed. 3. Locker decorating was part of the fun of being a Lancer for Amy Harter. 4. Two of Mickey's best friends were Jill Shrotman and Cindy Fernandez. 5. Even hardship and pain brought a big smile from Deanna Pfeiffer. 6. Lori Pehoski expressed exhilaration as she learned of her sixteenth birthday present. 7. An afternoon Jacuzzi party was made complete by the gathering of good friends Todd Heiss, Julie Djie, Steffie Mathewson, Kacey Blachowicz and Ryan Jones. 8. The rifle squad kept the crowds cheering at rallies. 9. Birthdays were something special for Junior Senate members.

Part time jobs, along with schoolwork, were the rule rather than the exception for most Lakewood students. As the school's career center carefully monitored the types of jobs held by students, as well as issuing work permits, many Lancers applied and were accepted to work in a wide variety of jobs. Whether it was serving food at the local shopping mall or spinning records at the Friday night hang-out, the employees put lots of energy into their work. Although work and school schedules sometimes conflicted, wise budgeting of time and understanding bosses usually solved the problems.

1. Extra money was earned by Daniel Harris at AM/PM Minimart. 2. Tim Meyers was always ready to close a swift skateboard sale at El Dorado. 3. Untold hours were spent by Lisa Blackstad with her daycare charges. 4. Disc jockey Ted Hazlewood kept the music spinning at Skate Depot. 5. Copious cones were filled by Vickie Browning. 6. The latest sportswear was sold by Ray Adams. 7. Todd Dietrich often got caught up in his work as a YMCA lifeguard. 8. Hostess Trish Davis always greeted Red Onion customers warmly. 9. Strawberry fudge ripple with sprinkles presented no problem for Marty Yarak and Paula Tokar. 10. Socorro Jimenez prepared beautiful tables at Rainbow Fish Company. 11. The best burgers were served by Shawna Reynolds. 12. No one put more grins into her work than Gail Howard.

To be number one took many hours of hard work and dedication; Lancers were more than willing to do both in order to reach the pinnacle of success. Some channeled their energies into making excellent grades, while others excelled on the athletic field, music departments, drama productions or on school publications. Besides just spending the extra time, Lancers were united in their efforts to achieve the best in whatever they were doing. Their dedication to perfection set the tone for future classes.

1. As Fred Shook hit the books, Bob Mallon dreamed of a perfect SAT score. 2. A history students could count on Mr. Sparkman for all of the facts. 3. An extra pointer is given PACE student Bunyan Tom by Mr. Cramond. 4. Word-processing was a breeze for Lynda Kamrath. 5. An explosive chemistry teacher like Mr. Gilpin made the subject come alive for Philip Mortsinger. 6. Mrs. Kroll led ambitious honors English students such as Terry Green and Lori Hagler. 7. Super students Michelle Andrew and Steve Taurig received congratulations from Mr. Beard. 8. Mrs. Welke implored her club to "TRYMATH." 9. Christy Gomez' dedication impressed Mrs. Davis. 10. "Et tu, Marcus?" was the question posed by Mrs. Black as her AP English students prepare to attack. 11. Powerful intellect were gathered as Mr. Hopkins told the potential 4.0 students of his pride in their accomplishments.

One of the best experiences at Lakewood was sharing good times with a special friend. No matter what season it was, romance seemed to blossom. Lancer two-somes could be found not only on the campus but at many other interesting locales; the Queen Mary, Shoreline Village, Lakewood Stables and many amusement parks provided perfect places for dates. Whether it was a ride in an exotic Mercedes convertible or simply on a bicycle built for two, transportation modes were an important part of dating. Horses were even acceptable for a means of getting there. Wherever they wandered, Lakewood couples were sure to enjoy themselves and to cherish the memories of sharing their time together.

1. Vonda Anderson and Duane Cooper share a special moment before touring the Queen Mary. 2. Horseback riding provided unique relaxation for Cindy Fernandez and Aaron Cornell. 3. Magical memories were made by Jill Shrotman and Paul Graves at Disneyland. 4. Tina England and Elijah Anderson found the perfect solution to the high cost of owning an automobile. 5. One of the sweetest times was shared by Rich Simpson and Nerissa Colanta. 6. A Mercedes roadster and Tanya Higgenbotham were Brad Peter's perfect companions. 7. Toasting their friendship was important for Enalyn Ilog and Edwin Tolentino. 8. Jennifer Kramer teases Mike Lombardi with a double scoop of chocolate fudge ice cream. 9. Steve Caruthers and Cynthia Washington were among the most popular couples on campus.

No matter where they were, Lancers always found a way to have a good time. Even during the regular school day, they took time out to make every moment count. The pepsters worked to make rallies an enjoyable experience for all, while occasionally taking time off to relax elsewhere. Panther cheerleaders were a special addition to this year's rally schedule; their beauty was surpassed only by their cheerleading ability. There were also many opportunities away from school to be with friends, laugh and get a little crazy. If the high school years were truly the "happy days," then Lancers found the ways to make them the best years of all.

1. Snoopy acquired special friends in Noreen Thompson and Julie Edwards. 2. The Pilchman family enjoyed the help of their turbo-powered son, Jordan. 3. At times, Tracy Parkman had difficulty controlling her sense of humor. 4. Making new friends was an important attribute of Heather Overhuls. 5. The Stat Girls showed Coach Melyin the perfect defense. 6. Milton Robinson attacked his ice cream cone with gusto. 7. Leaping with joy, Scott Terry discovered that Linette Visconti had hit the teller machine for some extra cash. 8. Derek Vunak and Todd Heiss proved some people would do anything for publicity. 9. The indomitable spirit of Anne Witkowski was contagious. 10. Debi Mauri discovered that a person couldn't have it both ways. 11. Jena Rummel showed what a big kid she is.

Tantalizing menus and delicious food were enough to make anyone's tastebuds tingle. Although it was great to sit down in a nice restaurant and be served a fine meal, fast food lunch stops were a must and made the old pocketbook smile. No one place captured everyone's fancy; however, each one had a particular speciality that Lancers seemed to favor. Jack-in-the-Box was famous for its bacon cheeseburgers, while In-and-Out's ambitious "double-double" was a real crowd pleaser. Sophomores tended to favor chili dogs and double burrito supremes as Der Wienerschnitzel and Taco Bell were within easy walking distance. In the forty-three minutes allotted for lunch, Lancers stuffed their faces with as much greasy, gooey and sticky food as they could.

1. Afternoon soda breaks were popular for Tina Vandiver and Stacey Self. 2. Lisa Vanice was almost hidden by the McDonald's lunch bunch. 3. Leslie Mollin and Shellee McLaughlin fed some extra sugar to the bear. 4. An evening at El Torrito was spent by Greg Miller, Alex Savala and Bob Carvalho. 5. Que pasa? Senor Small. 6. One last gulp before sixth period was routine for many Lancers. 7. The Red Onion was overwhelmed when it recruited Alta Mendoza, Angelica Barraza and Estela Medina. 8. Der Wienerschnitzel fans included the Dave Higgins Gang. 9. Amy Bell reached high for her soda at Hamburger Henry's. 10. Alfresco dining agreed with Kelli Fawson, Diane Bayless and Kristy Howard.

Whoever said, "same time, same place, same thing" was definitely not referring to the ways Lancers spent their free time on the weekends. After plodding through another school week filled with lessons and homework, Lakewood students were ready to hit the road running in an effort to capture as much fun as possible when Saturday and Sunday arrived. Although special hobbies and avocations sometimes dictated the participation of only a few, many weekend activities seemed to be equated with the idea that the more people that were involved, the better. Beaches were crowded with sunbathing and surfing Lancers, while trips to the desert and local mountains also were popular.

1. Alamitos Bay had the calm water needed by Mr. Wood for his first and very feeble attempt at windsurfing. 2. The Jacobsen Brothers readied themselves for another race across the Mojave sands. 3. Larry Griffin and his jet ski were inseparable partners. 4. The waiting line was long at the Senior Senate prepared to cruise the blue Pacific. 5. As he became airborne, Joel Brimm suddenly realized how far it was back to earth. 6. Mr. Hopkins and his son, Gary, brave the winter cold during a camping trip to San Geronimo Pass. 7. Superb skateboard style was shown off by Mike McNary. 8. The waves of Huntington Beach were ruled by super-surfer John Jacobsen. 9. A fine descent was made by para-sailing expert Amy Shaw.

Every Lancer seemed to agree that 1987 was a particularly memorable year. However, what were the ingredients that made this time seem like a special period? Was it the new emphasis the school, parents and students placed on academic achievement? Was it the continuing success of Lakewood sports teams bringing home the honors, such as the Moore League Championship volleyball team? Was it the special time spent with friends who proved that fun could be had almost anywhere? A combination of all of these factors made 1987 not just a year, but what a year!

1. A model airplane at the Space Museum was an educational experience for Steffie Mathewson and Julie Djie. 2. Identical VW Bugs were no match for twin brothers, Don and Dion Lewis. 3. Not all of the fads of 1987 pleased Joel Brimm. 4. Robin Chronister indicated which way she thought clothing trends were headed. 5. Tim Meyers whacked the section of a Bolsa Chica breaker. 6. Garret Rheberg is greeted by his hero, the irrepressible Wally George. 7. An island native caught the eye of Mr. Holzman. 8. Just as everyone thought that pink Metros were a thing of the past, Laura Hatcher arrived. 9. Mr. Stoner had to fend off overzealous geometry students. 10. Birthday celebrations often brought out craziness at its best. 11. Ming Lao implored his friends to "hang loose." 12. Mr. Wood grimaced as his grandson, Austin, pulled out his last remaining black hair.

"Sweet" was the "in" word at Lakewood High School in 1987. It was commonly taken to mean some thing or event that was particularly well done. Achieving difficult goals during the school year resulted in what almost everyone termed "sweet" success. Hours of practice were spent to perfect dance routines, increase g.p.a.s, improve swim times, hone singing skills and do almost anything better than it had ever been done previously. From conquering a tough exam in AP British literature to learning English as a second language, Lancers attempted to make each success a "sweet" one.

1. Ingrid Hegglin reached the pinnacle of success with her expert riding skills. 2. Campus tours were a specialty for John Hoyne and Gwen Rushing. 3. As Moore League Champions, the Lancer Volleyball team practiced at every opportunity. 4. Graceful routines were a hallmark of dancers Maggie Barbosa, Kim Lopez and Shannon Domingo. 5. Perfect form was shown by swimmer Jay Long. 6. Superstar Kim Falk's serve was feared by her league opponents. 7. The Renaissance Faire provided the backdrop for the melodious voices of the Second Chapter Singers. 8. Potential 4.0 quarterback Greg Clark spent every extra moment studying. 9. An outstanding takedown is registered by Robert Sanchez. 10. Hoopsters Ron Brown and Duane Cooper knew the meaning of teamwork. 11. Lucio Arellano's fame as an artist ranged far and wide.

Mixed emotions were in the air as the school year came to a conclusion. Seniors, who had enjoyed their roles as leaders during the year, were both anticipating the future and wishing that their good times at LHS could continue for just a while longer. As the graduation ceremonies came to a conclusion, both smiles and tears were seen in abundance. It was a time to make decisions that would make many differences in a person's lifetime. Lancers held onto the past and reached for the future simultaneously.

1. The culminating experience of the year was the graduation of the Class of 1987. 2. Some students took a few moments to reflect what being a Lancer meant to them. 3. One of the highlights of the year was the dedication of Center Stage by Mr. Hopkins. 4. Grad Nite celebrants included Mike Muran, Jill Shrotman and Amy Bell. 5. The Lancer symbolized the pride and strength of Lakewood High School. 6. Preparation for the final examination in physics class was made easier by Mr. Shafer's explanation of the generation of electricity. 7. Billy Moore and Catherine Yuh were exuberant as they passed through the campus on their way to graduation exercises. 8. The goal of every Lancer was the coveted diploma. 9. Friends gather around Steed Coats' truck for a final farewell photograph. 10. ROTC cadets take down the flag for the final time in 1987.

Homecoming

What better theme could there have been for a Halloween homecoming than "Fright Knight!" Revolving around the theme were a number of interesting and sometimes hilarious events which concluded with the traditional homecoming assembly on Friday afternoon. Led off by a Monday morning rally, competitions throughout the week included a relay race, find the jellybean in whipped cream, a toilet paper wrap, pumpkin pie eating contest, as well as old uniform and mourn Compton days. Mr. Peter Cole and his Cabinet gremlins pulled off the best LHS homecoming ever!

1. Coach Melvin congratulated Steve Caruthers on being chosen as the 1986 Mr. Touchdown. 2. Lori Pehoski was enthusiastic as she became all wrapped up in her job. 3. The best yogurt around was from the Drama Club's booth and Penguins; the best principal around was Mr. Hopkins from LHS! 4. The campus was a busy place on "Fright Knight" as alumni and students gathered for "Transylvania" in the quad. 5. Lakewood gridders were victorious in their homecoming match against a tough Compton squad. 6. Ms. Lefever and her crew served tantalizing treats. 7. The best hamburgers around were deliciously barbecued by the Second Chapter Singers. 8. Sheriff Cindy Fernandez took charge of the prisoners. 9. A new booth section in the corner of the 400 building proved to be popular. 10. A very wet Coach O'Neil was a good sport, as he took his turn in the dunking booth. 11. The colors were proudly posted by the ROTC cadets at the afternoon assembly. 12. "Acey's Pals" were a wild and crazy group.

ROTC

The Naval ROTC Unit brought pride to the school, to the Navy, to the country which they served and to themselves. Every Thursday they donned their crisp black and white uniforms and thereby let the rest of the campus know that they were members of the most elite group at Lakewood High School. They were the ones who posted the colors, learned geography, marched as a precision machine, presented performances of the outstanding drill teams and quietly did the thousand and one jobs for the school that often went unnoticed to the untrained eye. Every Lancer was proud of them and their accomplishments.

1. Captain Thompson explained the importance of global geography to Paul Goldberg. 2. The cadets proudly hoisted the colors. 3. M/CPO LeRoy Borchardt and cadet leader Robert Leonard were extremely proud of the vast accomplishments of the Silent Precision Drill Team. 4. Every cadet was given instruction in the use of the engine controls. 5. Cadet leader Angelica Barraza considered it an honor to be part of the elite Girls' Drill Team. 6. Vicki Espinoza and Barbara Marquez learned why a strong national defense was emphasized by M/CPO Borchardt. 7. The Cadet Officers Corps was the sharpest in the city and was responsible for many fine showings in various competitions. 8. Every cadet was proud to serve with Captain Thompson. 9. No group posted the colors with the ability of the Color Guard. 10. M/CPO Borchardt was a storehouse of information on the U.S. Navy. 11. The ROTC Unit was among the most outstanding and hardworking groups at Lakewood High School.

Cheer/Song/Flag/Majorette

Rallies, football games and a host of other school events were the places where the pep squads could be found. Their enthusiasm and dedication raised school spirit throughout the year. The long hours of practice put in by all of the squads were evident in their magnificent routines. Their advisor, Mrs. Caryn Cobb, was responsible for much of their success.

1. JV Yell was one of the most united and spirited squads at LHS. The Members were: Jodi Middleton, Cindy Mertz, Erin Harmon, Nancy English, Deanna Pfeiffer and Kathy Foote. 2. Varsity Yell encouraged school spirit with their upbeat rhythmic cheers and chants. The Members were: Cindy Fernandez, Trish Davis, Michelle Andrew, Tracy Cabalayan, Nicki Armstrong, Jill Shrotman, Angie Samuels, Anne Witkowski, Julie Gerkin and Shannon Moreno. 3. Cindy Fernandez kept the rallies moving. 4. Varsity Yell had it all together. 5. JV Yell was famous for its awesome stunts. 6. The Song Squad could always be counted on. The Members were: Shannon Hunt, Gina Loprieato, Julie Edwards, Gina Iriarte, Noreen Thompson and Bridgette Payne. 7. Song performed WAIL, which traditionally concluded pep rallies. 8. Flag was one of the most active pep squads. The Members were: Kristy Howard, Tina Vandiver, Billie Jo Flake, Diane Bayless, Stacey Self and Kelli Fawson. 9. The Lancer majorette, Michelle Row, performed her dazzling routine.

Band

The beat went on as the Lancer Marching Band's music added more fervor to the Lakewood fever. The members of this crack unit set new standards in both the music they produced and the brilliant half-time shows they created. Under the expert direction of John Hannan, the musicians strove to attain new heights as they added many numbers to their musical catalogue.

Cecilian Singers

Who was responsible for all of the beautiful sounds coming from the vocal room? The answer to that musical question was that Cecilian Singers were hard at work to produce musical numbers worthy of their many talents. With their voices raised and their spirits high, they kept Lakewood High in tune. With the skillful direction of master vocal director Marc Clemens, the singers presented themselves and their music with the highest standards attainable.

1. The Cecilian Singers: First Row: L. Smith, L. Campbell, N. Sattari, E. Barber, K. Carmichael, N. Conception, L. James, K. Bird, F. Ginther. Second Row: C. Mendoza, A. Gallegos, C. Wormley, A. Barraza, P. Correa, T. Fenton, W. Bjurstrom, N. Cave, Y. Williams, P. Claudio. Third Row: B. Thezan, J. Durfee, M. Hill, T. Fletcher, K. Allen, E. Horvath, S. Butcher, S. Galura, M. Fergurgur. 2. Lori Campbell listened intently as Mr. Clemens demonstrated the high pitch. 3. The singers climbed the ladder to success. 4. Frances Ginther awaited the cue. 5. Carmelle Wormley sang along beautifully. 6. Stacey Galura sang along with the class. 7. Karen Carmichael sang a beautiful solo. 8. Stacey Galura awaits the part. 9. Joyce Durfee got a big kick out of Mr. Clemens' rendition of "Happy Birthday." 10. Angelica Barraza sang in melodious harmony with the rest of the class.

Advanced Dance

Poise, dedication, concentration, agility and, above all, talent were the prerequisites for wearing a red sweatshirt with "Advanced Dance" emblazoned across its front. For the lucky few who made it through the grueling tryouts, the door was open for one of the most strenuous and uplifting experiences of their lives. As chief choreographer, rehearsal director, program coordinator and classroom teacher, Mrs. Prowett was the secret force that made talent blossom.

1. Gina Costello got a lift from her friends after an exhilarating workout. 2. Nikki Davis, Angie Samuels and Tangie White struck an alluring pose. 3. The Laura Cadieu Troupe kicked up its heels. 4. The Advanced Dance Class: First Row: T. White, N. Davis, S. Correy, S. Wood (Mgr.), K. Estrada, B. Gutierrez, L. Zimmerman. Second Row: A. Samuels, G. Costello, S. Fitzpatrick, L. Cadieu, E. Enriquez, R. Araujo, T. Lewis, E. Mickelson. Third Row: R. Chavez, A. Harter, C. Heiss, L. Blackstad, K. Martin, J. Kramer, K. Harpham, J. Jones, L. Ba. 5. Erin Mickelson and Donna Isbell showed off their agility. 6. K. C. Estrada rehearsed a dance step with her friends. 7. The Advanced Dancers prepared to "can-can." 8. Rhina Araujo and her friends were filled with talent. 9. Racheal Chavez and Kristie Martin jumped into the new routine.

Dance

Beginning and intermediate dance classes were filled with ambitious dancers who spent every available minute of classroom time honing their skills. The music which emanated from their bungalow was only a prelude to the inventive dance steps performed by these girls. The culminating event of the year for the dancers was the dance concert in which they did their best to show off the talents that they had acquired under the expert direction of Mrs. Prowett. Everyone was proud of their accomplishments.

1. Dionne Wall and her friends were always ready to dance. 2. A unique pose was accomplished with great poise by a group of beginning dancers. 3. Amy Benedict took a much deserved rest. 4. Intermediate Dance: First Row: A. Benedict, A. Benavidez, D. Eskridge. Second Row: E. Medina, K. Lopez, T. Du, N. Sarmiento, D. Balogh. Third Row: T. Tesaluna, K. Chiem, S. Ascheri, S. Domingo, M. Barbosa, S. Domingo, R. Pila, S. Sorenson, M. Bridges. 5. Maggie Barbosa led the way. 6. This was the finale of a spectacular performance. 7. The old "reach for the stars" trick. 8. Beginning Dance: First Row: P. Barry, M. Cao, L. Campbell, P. Cooks. Second Row: T. Kim, E. Medina, G. Caudillo, A. Nevarez, A. Brown, M. Medina, C. Nguyen, T. Tran, K. Keobunta, L. Vargas. Third Row: J. Laster, T. House, I. Sandoval, B. Beltran, L. Ball, D. Wall, S. Flores, R. Gordo, M. Godoy. Fourth Row: L. Arteaga, M. Moore, K. Premro, S. Oates, T. Wood, N. Tamm, R. Anguas, E. ## Stage Crew

A wide variety of services was provided by the experts on Lakewood's stage crew; among these were the outdoor lighting and sound systems for Back-to-School Night, building the homecoming court set which was placed on the field before the game, as well as being the operating crew for various civic organizations that use the LHS facilities for evening and weekend events. One of the largest undertakings was the manufacturing of the scenery for all of the student productions, including concerts by the band, choral and dance groups. The leadership of Mr. Stobbe and Mr. Gathe ensured the success of each event.

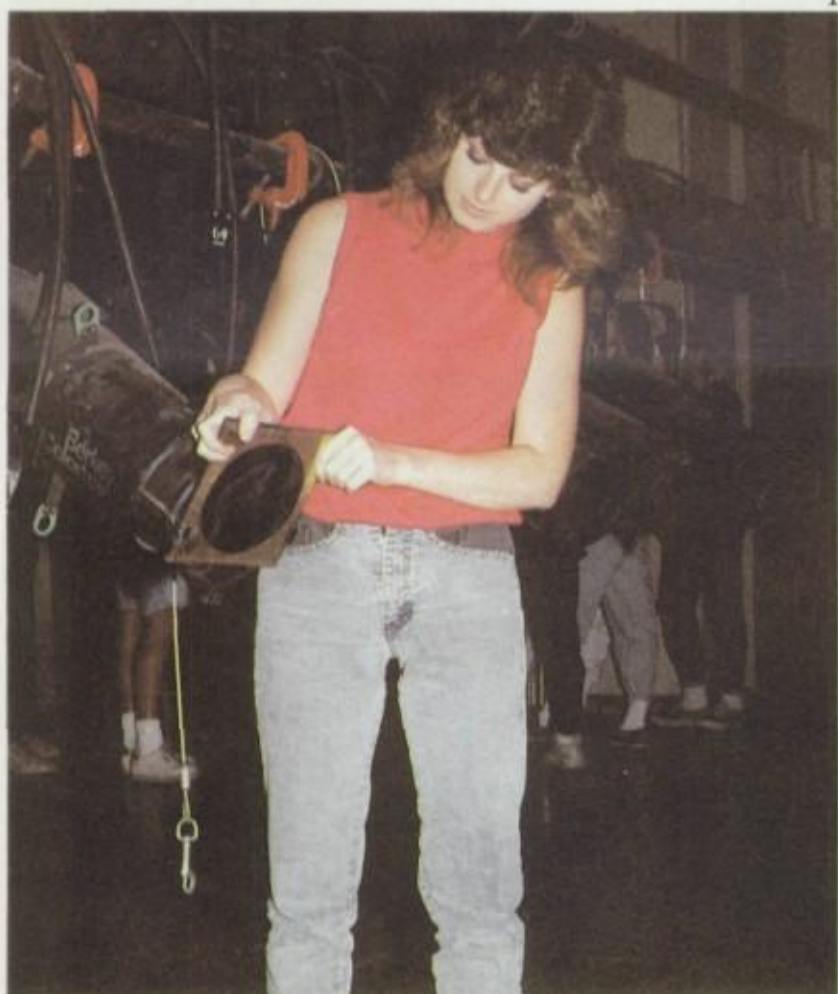

1. Marcus Rechlin and Cliff Miller ran the follow spotlight. 2. John Pletting checked the adjustments on the second electric. 3. Becoming an expert at changing gels was easy for Gina Benson. 4. Flat moving was fun for Candace Ray and Mark Rechlin. 5. Vern Williams and Robert Kelly assembled a riser for the holiday musical. 6. Adjusting lights was just a part of the job for Doryne Wilson. 7. Richard Simpson's favorite place to be was the sound board. 8. Robert Stine, Paul Ferguson and Randy Myers were in charge of the light board. 9. The Stage Crew: First Row: V. Williamson, P. Ferguson, R. Meyers, B. Stine. Second Row: M. Rechlin, M. Badberg, C. Miller, J. Pletting, R. Simpson, D. Baze. Third Row: Mr. Stobbe, R. Kelly, D. Wilson, G. Benson, C. Ray, D. Jones, S. Vargas, K. # LANCE

The headlines were bold, the print was clear and the stories captivated the student body as the issues of the LANCE began rolling off the presses. Under the expert guidance of novice advisor Darlene Ott, the journalism class made great strides. Word was out that the LANCE was back and better than ever.

1. Jennifer Taylor and Janna Root accepted a suggestion from editor-in-chief Kara Kruger. 2. Jodi Workman and Melissa Lucas pasted their stories on the "dummy" under Joe Corbett's supervision. 3. Editors Michele Shartsis, Jennifer Taylor, Joe Corbett, Kara Kruger and Jennifer Kramer took a well-deserved break. 4. Proofreading was an important part of journalism. 5. The Advanced Graphic Arts Class: First Row: Mr. Howey, R. Camero, M. Taylor, R. Kidd, R. Williams, S. Attema, P. Heinlein, M. Johnson, T. Elder, T. Childs. Second Row: S. Robeson, G. Dema, C. Clemo, T. Ashley, D. Clark, P. Ferguson, J. Mergelmeyer. Third Row: M. Smith, V. Scott, J. Pierce, B. Reed, P. Jaroch, P. Moreno, M. Yarak, E. DeHaas, S. Franklin. 6. Mrs. Ott was intent on producing the best newspaper possible. 7. The Journalism Class: First Row: M. Lucas, K. Hawkins, L. Johnson, K. Fish, S. Kwon, P. Tokar, R. Valdez, L. Manzo, M. Stanley, C. # "Brigadoon"

Fantasy and fantastic reality were magically intertwined to weave the tale of Lakewood High School's spring musical, "Brigadoon". In an era of such theatrical hits as "Back to the Future", audiences were thoroughly entranced by the time-warp technique that propelled them into the past. "Brigadoon" was based upon the love between two people from different centuries and the problems they encountered attempting to understand one another. Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas, while on a hunting trip to Scotland, accidentally stumbled upon the town of Brigadoon after it had awakened for a single day from its century-long sleep. Tommy falls hopelessly in love with the beautiful lass, Fiona. He must make a fateful decision; should he spend the rest of his life with a woman he has known but for a day. Through the artful direction of Janie Robinson and the wonderful orchestration of John Hannan, "Brigadoon" came to life.

1. Mr. Lundie explained the "miracle" to Tommy, Jeff and Fiona. 2. Meg sang "My Mother's Wedding Day" with her friends in MacCoonachy Square. 3. Charlie pledged his love to Jean, with a little help from Mr. Lundie. 4. Singing "From This Day On", Tommy shared a musical moment with Fiona. 5. The sword dance was performed for all by the irrepressible Harry Beaton. 6. The townsfolk gather with Fiona, Jean Meg and others in MacCoonachy Square. 7. The Cast of "Brigadoon". 8. Lost while hiking, Tommy and Jeff stumbled upon Brigadoon. 9. Andrew, Archie and Angus saved Brigadoon by keeping Harry from escaping. 10. Passionately, Meg tried to win the heart of Jeff Douglas.

"You Can't Take It With You"

"You Can't Take It With You" was the first all-student play production in the school's history. Hundreds of hours of fund raising and rehearsals finally paid off when the play was presented; it was an unqualified success. The story revolved around the Vanderhof family, a collection of cheerful and erratic incompetents, except for Alice, the only normal member and a Wall Street secretary. Alice became engaged to Tony Kirby, her boss's son, who brought his parents to dinner at the Vanderhof's house. The Kirbys were appalled by the wild and unorthodox manners of the Vanderhofs, which resulted in the arrests of both families. Alice, convinced that the two families would never get along, was determined to leave on her own. Tony tried in vain to dissuade her. Mr. Kirby was eventually led by Grandpa to realize that his worrisome business life left much to be desired.

1. Mr. Henderson argued with Grandpa about the importance of paying taxes. 2. Kolenkor danced with the Grand Duchess, Olga Katrina. 3. Reva had stary eyes for Donald. 4. Penny began work on her war play as Paul supervised. 5. The G-men grabbed Ed for seditious behavior. 6. Dance instructor Kolenkor displayed a new step to Essie. 7. Tony and Alice were much in love. 8. Gay kissed Mr. Kirby in front of his distressed wife. 9. Grandpa rested in between crises. 10. The cast of "You Can't Take It With You."

Winter Formal

An exciting and fun filled evening was shared by the couples who attended the winter formal on January 16th at the Buena Park Hotel. The cabinet was instrumental in the success of the dance, as it had worked diligently to plan the affair. As the DJ played the popular hits, videos of the dancers were shown on the screen. From the arrival of the first limousines, to the dinners at the best restaurants, and capped by the dance itself, the night was truly a Winter Dream to Remember.

1. Courtney Pilchman made a final check in the mirror before hitting the dance floor. 2. John Jacobson escorted Jamie Smith to the dance for a "Winter Dream to Remember." 3. A sparkling group of Lancers dressed in the highest styles posed for the friendly photographer. 4. David Baze and his date enjoyed an evening filled with excitement and entertainment. 5. As they danced cheek to cheek, Neal Armstrong and Stacy Beversdorf reflected the warm and friendly moods of the evening. 6. Mr. Peter Cole, the director of Lakewood's activities, proudly posed with the members of the student body cabinet who were largely responsible for the success of the evening. 7. The king and queen of the 1987 winter formal were Steve Caruthers and Michelle Stewart. 8. A night filled with joy and dancing was shared by Todd Martin, Teresa Vieira, Scott Andrade, Jill Harris, Milissa Simms and her date. 9. Among the happiest couples at the dance were Lorene Zimmerman and her date. 10. Refreshments between dances were a big hit. 11. Greg Crettaz enjoyed the company of Lori Porter. 12. Denise Mahaffey's idea of a good time was to keep on dancing with Eric Smith. 13. The evening changed moods with a slow dance which was perfect for Matt Paige and Jennifer Cunningham.

Cabinet

The LHS cabinet members were Lakewood High School's knights of the round table. This outstanding group of leaders worked diligently to promote school spirit and activities. Each semester the student body elected leaders that they felt were qualified to represent the school. These officers worked behind the scenes to make school events happen. The fall student council, led by Julie Djie, planned the minute details of homecoming, rallies, the winter formal, as well as many other activities. The spring semester cabinet, under Ann Witkowski's enthusiastic leadership, finished off the year with a fun-filled spring week, senior prom and graduation. Under the skillful leadership of Mr. Cole, the school's activities specialist, the LHS cabinet planned and executed a year of successful school events.

1. Fall semester Student Body President, Julie Djie. 2. A moment of unity and fun is shared by the Fall Cabinet. 3. Fall semester Student Body Vice President, Jennifer Kramer. 4. The Fall Cabinet was instrumental in planning a very successful homecoming, plus the exciting winter formal. 5. The Spring Cabinet was exceptionally talented at playing hide-and-seek. 6. Mr. Peter Cole, the Activities Specialist, explained the assignments to the members of the cabinet. 7. Spring semester Student Body President, Ann Witkowski. 8. One of the primary objectives of the Spring Cabinet was to organize a successful prom. 9. Spring semester Student Body Vice President, Duane Cooper.

Orchestra

To hear the orchestra warm up, no one would ever have believed that they could sound so melodious as they harmonized. Hundreds upon hundreds of hours of practice, including early morning rehearsals, proved how diligent the members of this elite group were. Under the expert direction of John Hannan, the group traveled to many music festivals in its quest to add to the already numerous awards and trophies it had collected. Students, parents and teachers had many opportunities to be entertained by the orchestra; the winter program, spring concert and all-school musical, "Brigadoon," were certainly among the highlights of the year.

Citadel

The Citadel class was packed full of excitement. From the very beginning of the year when the four-color sections were prepared until the finishing touches were put on the final baseball pages, the students in the school annual class were a merry band who were able to complete every task on time. As they diligently drew layouts, cropped photographs, wrote copy, found names, identified teams and organizations and met deadlines they still found the time to become good friends and to work as a single unit.

1. Among the most diligent workers on the Citadel were the editors Amy Bell, Jill Shrotman, Steffie Mathewson and Brenda Silverstein. 2. Assistant editors Tim Meyers and Kim Harpham took frequent breaks from the hectic work of assembling the yearbook. 3. Noreen Thompson, Todd Heiss, Jena Rummel, Tami Burnett and Ryan Jones shared a rare moment of relaxation. 4. A great amount of frustration was shown by Cindy Fernandez as she threatened Mr. Wood concerning his constant gum chewing in class. 5. Quite confused, Erinn Neel looked to Arianne Shrider for some professional advice. 6. Kacey Blachowicz and Yvonne Livingston didn't pay any attention to Tracy Parkman's amazing use of the cropper. 7. The Citadel class mourned the loss of Todd Heiss. 8. Slacking off was a major task for William Mayfield as Ming Lao and Eric Cox worked on their layouts. 9. The proper use of the straight edge was a specialty for Gina Lopriato, Gail Howard and Diane Bayless. 10. David McGowan was stunned at the progress made on the sports pages by Jordan Pilchman and Kim Falk. 11. Sports super-stars Duane Cooper and Ronald Brown gave their full attention to each detail on the basketball pages.

The season for the varsity football team proved to be frustrating, at best. Leading off with a 14 — 0 win over El Rancho gave the team both experience and confidence. However, the next three matches saw the Lancers on the short end of the score. When league play opened, Lakewood felt it was ready to face the Panthers. The lead was maintained until Jordan came from behind in the final quarter to edge past Lakewood. In the next match against nationally rated Poly, the Lancers made a fine showing, losing in the last three minutes. Ready for a win, the team took out its frustrations on Compton. Although the record stood at 2 — 7, fine performances marked the year.

1. Matt Nuez kicked for the field goal. 2. Steve Caruthers turned upfield looking for six. 3. Shaking off a tough defender, Anthony Jones made his move. 4. Chautemoc Rivera and Billy Moore sandwiched a Panther. 5. Dewey Kaeka kicked the Lancers out of a jam. 6. Jordan Pilchman narrowly escaped a Jordan defender as he prepared to add to the score. 7. Coach Rose explained the defense to Phil Reineke and Bill Moore. 8. Jordan Pilchman attempted to pick out an open receiver. 9. The Lancer defense deflected the pass. 10. The Varsity Football Team.

The junior varsity and sophomore football teams turned in respectable performances throughout the season. The overall records reflected 4 — 5 for the JVs and 5 — 3 for the talented sophs. The JV team was led by a balanced offensive unit. Rennie Reed, the quarterback, repeatedly hit his favorite receiver, Golbert Orbeso. The ground game was led by John Chung and Todd Martin, both of whom could always give their best efforts. Key players Todd Hill, Jim Corpus and Gabriel Flores rounded out the squad. The sophs gained most of their yardage on the ground, with Fred Maxwell, Shaun Simon and Mike Fortune as standouts.

1. Rennie Reed stepped into the pocket and got the pass off. 2. Gilbert Orbeso went for the pass between two determined defenders. 3. Lakewood's defense always posed a threat to their opponents. 4. Robert Kuhn looked for some blocking as Todd Hill attempted to get a handle on the ball. 5. Jim Corpus put a great hit on a Tarbabe. 6. The Junior Varsity Football Team. 7. Don Couch dropped back to pass. 8. In a remarkable play, Mike Fortune swept around the left side for a big gain. 9. Fred Maxwell looked for daylight. 10. The Sophomore Football Team. 11. Shaun Simon took the hand-off for a surge upfield.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Under the guidance of a new coach, the boys' cross-country teams strove to retain their dominance of the Moore League. The Lancers, 4 — 1 in league competition, finished second during the league finals. Outstanding performances were turned in by such accomplished athletes as Brian Pitts and Steven Traurig, who split first-place finishes throughout the season. The JVs were paced by Kasey Brooks and Eric Cox. Finishing a strong second, the girls' varsity team posed a constant threat to all opponents. Among the dynamic distaff runners were Glenna Archer, Debbie Deister and Dena Dunlop. The JVs, led by Kim Archer, were co-champions in league.

1. Brian Pitts brought home the first-place honors once again. 2. Winning form was a hallmark for Steven Traurig. 3. The Boys' JV Cross-Country Team. 4. Lakewood varsity was widely known for its ability to dominate the opposition. 5. The junior varsity took an early lead in a dual match against Wilson. 6. The Boys' Varsity Cross-Country Team. 7. Llena Wilson pushed herself in an effort to cross the finish line first. 8. Outstanding distance runner Glenna Archer led a pack of Lancers over the new course. 9. Super-star Debbie Deister bathed herself in concentration. 10. The Girls' Cross-Country Teams. 11. Cindy Cluney was instrumental in helping the JVs attain a co-championship in the Moore League.

WATER POLO

The varsity, junior varsity and sophomore water polo teams gave Lancers plenty to cheer about. The varsity squad finished the season with a disappointing record of eight wins and fourteen losses. However, the record does not accurately reflect the fine performances turned in by all-league standouts Jerry Iwanylo, Keith Mortensen, Eric Smith and Ty Smith. The junior varsity team, the future of Lakewood H2O polo, was led by excellent players such as Rashid Ali, Paul Henderson, Lonnie Venable and Ray White. The sophomore team had a very good season; they produced stars-to-be in the likes of Todd Ashley, Jason Gaudreau and Joe Lopez.

1. Defense was one of the many specialties of Greg Prosser. 2. Clint Shipp used his long reach to block a shot at the goal. 3. Splashing water in the face of an opponent was a secret technique employed by Eric Smith. 4. All-league goalie Ty Smith made a crucial save for the Lancers. 5. The Varsity and Junior Varsity Water Polo Teams. 6. Kevin Midgett slipped by a Bruin defender to go in for the goal. 7. In the final match of the year, Joe Lopez prepared to pass to his teammate. 8. An ever-determined Willie Smith fought a brief and victorious battle for control of the ball. 9. Fantastic defensive moves were characteristic for Ari Cosores. 10. The Sophomore Water Polo Team. 11. Jason Gaudreau could have used a periscope at times to find an open man.

VOLLEYBALL

Making the most of every opportunity, the Lancer volleyball teams moved through the season with both power and finesse. The most exciting game for the varsity was against Wilson. Having lost to them in the first round of league play, practices revolved around the cry, "Beat Wilson!" October 30th, the date of the crucial rematch, saw a victorious Lancer team defeat the Bruins; the team finished the season with an overall 15-3 record. Janine Ward was named most-outstanding league player, with Debbie Kennedy, Margaret Stewart and Anne Witkowski also named to all-league honors. The JV record of 8-2 was also impressive; key players were Michelle Haglund, Cassie Fauber and Tina Van Renesse.

1. Arlene Avila was always there for the break-up. 2. Setting with style was no problem for ace-player Cassie Fauber. 3. Lakewood was prepared for action as Carrie Turner made the move. 4. Tina Van Renesse showed great authority with her serve. 5. Michelle Haglund and her teammate fight for the ball. 6. The Junior Varsity Volleyball Team. 7. Debbie Kennedy moved into position to make the assist. 8. Teri Stangle set one up for the Lancers. 9. Dominating the opposition was a characteristic of Anne Witkowski. 10. In a see-saw match, Lakewood gave its all to come out on top. 11. The Varsity Volleyball Team. 12. Getting air was nothing new for Danielle Smith and Anne Witkowski.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Although the girl's tennis team finished third place in league competition, they were certainly noticed as Lancer talent shined. Kimberly Falk, the school's three-time number one singles player, placed second in league for the second year in a row; she received all-city and all-league honors once again. Julie Djie and Steffie Mathewson completed the season with an enviable 15-0 record and also placed second in league; they were also chosen to be on the all-city and all-league teams. Tracey Willbanks, Arianne Shrider, and Corina Mallari helped lead the way for the JVs.

1. Lakewood's number-one doubles team, Julie Djie and Steffie Mathewson, just could not be beaten. 2. Marcena Meyer served up an ace. 3. Awesome power was behind every serve made by Sheila Asis. 4. Shellee McLaughlin reached for the low volley while Courtney Pilchman stood by ready to assist. 5. Tricia Stallings looked in awe at Marcena Meyer's backhand. 6. The Girls' Varsity Tennis Team. 7. Shelley Goldberg and Arianne Shrider, number one junior varsity doubles, were a great asset to the team. 8. Lakewood's three-year number one player, Kimberly Falk, hit a stellar forehand passing shot. 9. Tracy Wilbanks makes a solid return. 10. The Girls' Junior Varsity Tennis Team. 11. Penni Russell makes a nice backhand return while Kyla Krieg awaited the outcome.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Lady Lancers began the year expecting to do very well in the Moore League. With three of the starting five back, and six team members returning altogether, the team was favored to finish with a CIF bid. Pre-season play saw the Lancers place first in the Downey tournament, second in the Cypress and fifth in the prestigious Artesia tourney. Key players Angela Clark, Vonda Anderson and Anne Witkowski led the team. The JVs were given inspired play by Sharon Washington, Sherrie Gilbert and Tara Morrison.

1. In a tough game against the Poly Jackrabbits, awesome Anne Witkowski displayed a perfect jumper. 2. Angela Clark caught the defenders off guard as she moved the ball downcourt with skill and determination. 3. Clearing the boards was the job of Margaret Stewart. 4. A baseline move freed Julianne Merys to make a determined effort for another two points. 5. To break down the zone defense, Anne Witkowski used the dribble to penetrate. 6. Breaking the press with a dribble, Angela Clark moved the ball to Lancer territory. 7. The Girls' Varsity Basketball Team. 8. In a valiant effort, Kim Clarke beat back the defense. 9. As she finished the break, Vonda Anderson went high for the lay-in. 10. The Lancers awaited the chance to crash the boards. 11. The Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball Team. 12. Controlling the tempo of the game was a very important job for Tara Morrison.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

The "Red Rage" basketball team began the season with great expectations. Returning standouts such as Milton Robinson, Ronald Brown and "Best in the West" choice Duane Cooper were certain to ignite the Lancers and bring home victory after victory. Pre-season play saw the team place third in the Valencia tournament, second in the Carson City Classic and fifth in the Orange Tournament. Entering the league with a 11-3 record showed how impressive the team was. Coach Sweeney and his experts were certain to gain a CIF berth and a chance at the title.

1. Ronald Brown jumped over a Poly defender to get off a nice shot. 2. Allan Wilson looked to pick the defense apart. 3. As soon as the Lancers got the ball they were off to the races. 4. As the defenders looked on in awe, Victor Camper utilized his big frame in scoring two. 5. Elijah Anderson dished to Allan Wilson for another assist. 6. The Boy's Varsity Basketball Team. 7. All the opponents could do was hope, as Duane Cooper rose above the pack. 8. Vastly improved Milton Robinson proved to be a pivotal player and a leading scorer. 9. Matt Ward had difficulty finding the handle. 10. The Lancers relied heavily on Brian Camper's silky smooth jump shot. 11. After a lightning-quick steal, Ronald Brown became airborne in his attempt to add two points to the score. 12. Anthony Hill displayed a tough defense.

JV/SOPH BASKETBALL

The junior varsity basketball team began its season on good terms. It competed in several tournaments, the most successful of which was the Rolling Hills tourney in which they placed first. Outstanding players on the squad included Allen Sims, Scott Lane, Aaron Adams and Aaron Cornell. Meanwhile, the sophomore hoopsters were doing everything they could to duplicate last year's championship. Under the expert coaching of Chuck Stoner, the squad was led by Mike Adams, Bob Moyer and Stephen Allen.

1. Smooth style was evident as Scott Lane registered a perfect jumper to cinch a close game. 2. As he whisked by the defenders, Aaron Adams took the high road to add two points to the Lancer's tally. 3. Dedication was shown by Fred Burkhart as he soared to the top for two. 4. Mixing it up with a group of Jackrabbits was no problem for Kenny Fletcher who successfully recovered the rebound for the JVs. 5. A logjam under the net left Lakewood in control of the ball. 6. A very determined Aaron Cornell penetrated Poly's zone defense. 7. The Boys' Junior Varsity Basketball Team. 8. A brilliant break away by Allen Sims ended with a power dunk. 9. Stephen Allen rose high in the air to shoot over a Los Alamitos defender. 10. Outstanding sophomore player Bernard Goldring was counting on leaving his defender in the dust. 11. The Sophomore Basketball Team. 12. Bob Moyer was an expert in the art of intimidating his opponent.

BOYS' SOCCER

As it captivated fans in the Moore League, the varsity soccer team possessed skill, depth and intelligence in its quest for a CIF berth. Led by co-captains Mario Ramirez and Enrique Jiminez, the Lancers posted an overall season record of 17-4-1. The wins included the amazing feat of shutting out opponents ten times. After trying for second place in league, the Lancers hit the CIF trail. The JVs brought home the honors in their 14-3 season. Outstanding play from Dan Christen, Brian Lottes and Mike Ross was key ingredient to success.

1. Exceptional speed and excellent agility allowed Eric Soth to breeze past his opponents. 2. Alex Savala "headed" the ball in the right direction in the final match against the Wilson Bruins. 3. Showing who was in charge of the situation, Mario Ramirez deftly moved the ball downfield in hopes of another goal. 4. In an unusual twist of the body, Jorge Medina was able to avoid the tackle and swept around his defender. 5. On any given afternoon, Lancer fans could count on a one-man Show from Enrique Jiminez. 6. The Boys' Varsity Soccer Team. 7. Sophal Khem aggressively fought off a determined Millikan Ram for control of the ball. 8. Greg Johnson's tremendous kick moved the ball downfield for the Lancer JVs. 9. One of the key ingredients in Lakewood's victories was the outstanding performance of Kenny Harper. 10. A perfect pass to his teammates was the goal of Dan Christen. 11. The Boys' Junior Varsity Soccer Team. 12. Goalie Don Mathewson was counted on to make one awesome save after another.

GIRLS' SOCCER

Varsity girls' soccer was almost automatically geared for success. Eight returning players anchored the squad and worked hard to gain a CIF berth. However, within two weeks six players had sustained major injuries that would keep three of them out for the entire season. Key players such as Leslie Mollin, Lisa Hobbs, Arianne Shrider and Debi Maury kept the team on its feet for a third place finish in league. The JVs were led by Socorro Jimenez, Laura Cabral and Nicole Dempsy.

1. Lisa Hobbs' exceptional speed enabled her to easily outrun her opponents. 2. Michelle Hobbs left her defenders in the dust as she displayed outstanding dribbling skills. 3. After another awesome save by Leslie Mollin, she sent the ball downfield. 4. Speed and outstanding defending skills allowed no one past Amy Shaw. 5. Debi Maury outpaced her opponent in a downfield skirmish for control of the ball. 6. The Girls' Varsity Soccer Team. 7. Laura Cabral used secret moves to outmaneuver her opponent. 8. Blazing downfield, Arianne Shrider was well on her way to scoring another Lakewood goal. 9. As she took charge, Jenny Bradbery put the ball upfield. 10. Socorro Jimenez employed stealth as she out-faked her defender. 11. Well out in the lead with the ball was a normal situation for Laura Jaroch. 12. The Girls' Junior Varsity Soccer Team. 13. Lisa Russell showed who was boss.

WRESTLING

Wrestling was a sport that required an abundance of skill and strength, along with the stealth and thought required to apply moves and gain positions. The conditioning and practice sessions were rigorous. The Lancer wrestlers had an overall league record of 1-4; a great win over Compton was one of the highlights of the year. Bob Sanchez went on to win his division in the Moore League championships, with other medal winners Ibrahim Diaab, Dan Lopez and Hugo Fajardo.

1. Larry Miles prepared to pin a particularly challenging opponent in the first tournament of the year. 2. Moore League champion Bob Sanchez executed a perfect takedown on his Jackrabbit opponent. 3. Ibi Diaab came from behind to put a surprise move on a very "upset" Poly wrestler. 4. Hugo Fajardo anxiously awaited the go-ahead to be given by the referee to begin his match. 5. The Varsity Wrestling Team. 6. In an attempt to out-manuever his opponent, Dan Lopez searched for the perfect hold. 7. Determination and grit were the emotions written on the face of the outstanding lightweight wrestler, Ron Torres. 8. An inescapable hold was judiciously applied by Arron Jensen. 9. Arm control was one of the keys to Edward Grine's success. 10. The Junior Varsity Wrestling Team. 11. In a crucial match, John Edwards dropped his opponent with a chicken wing.

GYMNASTICS

In its continued efforts to be the number one gymnastics team in the Moore League, the Lancer gymnasts put forth their best efforts in every competition. Unbelievable hours of practice seemed to zoom by as the girls prepared for the opening match. Every piece of apparatus was in constant use as the team strove for the perfection it took to be number one. With the season starting two weeks later than normal, there was added pressure to practice, practice, practice! Outstanding returning gymnasts included Nicki Armstrong, Tina England, Julie Edwards and Jenny Gilliland, all of whom were counted on to be the nucleus of another winning team.

1. Kelly Lefebvre displayed her talents on the balance beam. 2. A difficult move on the uneven bars was a speciality for Jenny Gilliland. 3. Tina England flew through the air. 4. Julie Lyons prepared herself for a sole circle half turn beat. 5. The Varsity Gymnastics Team. 6. Determination was a must for Debra Trauger. 7. A flexible scale was shown by Nicki Armstrong. 8. # BOYS' TENNIS

An often little-noticed group of athletes tucked away on Lakewood's "south forty" spent numerous hours of practice in their quest for perfection. Technical skills and athletic abilities were matched in an effort to make sure that each player on the boys' tennis teams was as well-prepared as possible. The varsity team held high hopes with the return of three-year letterman, all-league and MVP David McGowan, as well as such standouts as Derek Vunak and Norannsy Chieu-Chin. The junior varsity tennis team was largely responsible for the basic training of future Lancer stars. Coach Riley depended on Joe Benitez, Brian Collison and Rennie Reed to anchor a strong team.

1. Double partners Billy Black and Paolo Lopez took the Lancers to the top. 2. Norannsy Chieu-Chin registered a devastating forehand. 3. Derek Vunak blasted a shot past a Millikan Ram. 4. A perfect shot was made by Brad Hawkins. 5. The Boys' Varsity Tennis Team. 6. A drilling volley was made by Alex Siemons. 7. David McGowan's serve destroyed his opponents. 8. The ability of Vic Maramba made him one of the best JVs. 9. The Junior Varsity Tennis Team. 10. A fantastic drop shot was made by Brian Collison.

BASEBALL

With the return of seven varsity lettermen, Lakewood baseball was almost guaranteed a successful season. Expert pitching, long a Lancer trait, continued with the exceptional performances of senior ace, Mike McNary, as well as strong showings from Troy Abato and Rick Molnar. Leading a strong and talented infield were Fred Pena, Paul Graves, Mike Lombardi and Dewey Kaeka. Excellent outfield play was garnered from Damion Easley, Matt Nuez and Alfonso Gomez. Super-catcher John Baldwin was counted on to call the right signals and guard home plate. With the guidance of head coach "Spud" O'Neil and his assistant, Rob Wigod, the team was well on its way to capturing another Moore League title in the continued tradition of excellent baseball at Lakewood High School.

1. Ross Shanberg dove back in time. 2. Matt Nuez rounded third for home. 3. A pop-up awakened John Baldwin. 4. A constant vigil was kept by Fred Pena. 5. The Varsity Baseball Team. 6. Gerardo Gonzales set the signals. 7. Another strike was delivered by Mike McNary. 8. A great batting stance was a hallmark for Loren Lujan. 9. Dewey Kae a made the tag. 10. Second baseman Paul Graves guarded his turf.

JV BASEBALL

The JV baseball team was far more than just a "farm club" for a varsity. In one of the most respected and consistent traditions of the school, this team had won the league championship with a regularity that was unmatched. By honing skills, demanding the best from each individual, practicing the basics, perfecting pitching, planning strategy and making certain that each athlete played for the team, Coach Tim Miltenberger was certain to succeed. Batting, fielding and hitting were essential; hence, practice centered on these skills. Exciting play was provided by the JVs as they often led the way into the varsity game. Among the best players were Joe Naravez, Bill Bellman, Dave Stark and sophomores Chris Esses, Mike Fortune and Chris Gomez.

1. Don Couch blasted one. 2. A perfect bunt was hit by Darren Gibson. 3. Chris Gomez scooped one up at first. 4. A home run was delivered by Mike Fortune. 5. The Junior Varsity Baseball Team. 6. Billy Bellman showed great determination. 7. An eighty m.p.h. strike was uncorked by Dave Stark. 8. Another strike was handled by Keith Tripp. 9. Eric Berry prepared to do some damage. 10. Joe Narvaez made the throw to home.

SOFTBALL

The Lancer softball teams overflowed with talent and experience. Because of the new hiatus for sports, the schedule was a condensed one which led to games being played closer together. The handicap caused by this alteration was that pitcher rotation and team tiredness may have resulted. However, Coaches Chandler and Hockerson seemed to be more than able to overcome any obstacles. Such standouts as Courtney Asbee, Leslie Mollin, Courtney Pilchman, Arianne Shrider and Kori Baldwin were the cornerstones of the team. The junior varsity boasted enormous talent, which was finally proven when they entered Moore League action and produced victory after victory.

1. Courtney Pilchman perfected the bunt. 2. Tara Morrison scooped up a line drive. 3. Disbelief overcame first base star Courtney Asbee. 4. Leslie Mollin assisted for the save. 5. The tag was made by Shellee McLaughlin. 6. The Varsity Softball Team. 7. First base was "home" for Lori Pehoski. 8. Jennifer Baker's delivery was a sight to behold. 9. The right stance led to success for Michelle Miller. 10. The Junior Varsity Softball Team. 11. A pop-up allowed Penny Russell to make the save.

TRACK

After undergoing a complete reorganization, the track team became a combined effort of the boys and girls. They developed a close team attitude and there was a greater opportunity for one-on-one coaching. A tough schedule was lined up, including the Palm Springs Invitational. Top competitors for the boys were distance runners Brian Pitts Mark Edwards and Eryck Walker. Sprinters included Jordan Pilchman and Anthony Jones. Field events were led by Rodney Stewart, Rod Chronister, Eric Cox and DeShawn Malveaux. The girls' team boasted of such standouts as Cynthia Osbey, Shayla Warren, distance runners Glenna Archer, Debbie Deister and Dena Dunlop. Shot putter Soretta Beard and jumpers Lena Wilson and Anne Witkowski rounded out the team.

1. Chris Schergat cleared the bar with ease. 2. Raquel Miller and Melanie Chretien finished first. 3. Soretta Beard prepared to heave. 4. Lena Wilson sailed through the air. 5. The Girls' Track Team. 6. Anthony Jones accepted the baton from Gilbert Orbeso. 7. Eric Cox took it to the limit. 8. A cannon shot was unleashed by Rod Chronister. 9. The Boys' Track Team. 10. Allen Sims had plenty of air.

SWIMMING

"Rise and shine" was a familiar phrase to the members of the swim teams; their practice sessions began at 6:00 a.m. four days a week. Most Lancers would find it difficult just to awaken at that hour, but the swimmers punctually met the deadline, jumped in the water and practiced for an hour. Another practice session after school enabled everyone to participate. With that much practice, the teams should have been great, and they were. Especially good performances were turned in by Eric Smith, Jay Long, Paul Henderson and Todd Heiss. Coach Mike Whittington was equal to the task of making his athletes the best in the league. His patience and good humor impressed outstanding swimmers Kacey Blachowicz, Donna Johnson, Julie Djie and Amy Bell.

1. Julie Djie finished the 200 I.M. with style. 2. The Girls' JV Swim Team. 3. Great strength in the breaststroke was shown by Janeen Cox. 4. Concentration was the key to Donna Johnson's success. 5. The Girls' Varsity Swim Team. 6. Eric Smith worked on perfecting the butterfly. 7. Paul Henderson sprinted to touch out his opponent. 8. A backstroke start was done well by Rashid Ali. 9. Boys' JV Swim Team. 10. The Boys' Varsity Swim Team. 10. Clint Shipp raced to the finish.

GOLF/BADMINTON

Nattily outfitted in pastel hues that identified them as part of the country club set, a fun-filled group of casual athletes, known as the LHS golf team, assaulted the links in hopes of a strong finish in league. Coach Tom Dunphy imparted his wisdom of the game to standouts Ming Lao, Kevin Ivary and Bill Ferre. Meanwhile, a major change occurred on the badminton courts as the sport went co-ed. The likes of Romo Men, Ramy Oum and Koy Seng proudly crossed over the line to show that badminton was for everyone. However, the ladies should not be forgotten. Outstanding serving and volleying were performed by Paula Tokar, Denise Von Rotz and Rogelia Martinez.

1. A short chip shot was a breeze for Ming Lao. 2. Kevin Ivary executed a perfect bunker shot. 3. The JV Golf Team. 4. A long bunker shot by Bill Ferre hit the mark. 5. Mike Graham concentrated on the ball. 6. The Varsity Golf Team. 7. Paula Tokar slammed down the birdie as she and Jeanne Nauenburg teamed up for the win. 8. Melissa Santos delivered a smashing forehand. 9. The JV Badminton Team. 10. John Titel went airborne to make the point. 11. The Varsity Badminton Team. 12. Cherish Catterall made a stellar backhand return while Mary Spaltro assisted.

Principal

As Lakewood High School celebrated its thirtieth year of commitment to excellence in education, Principal Donald Hopkins made certain that everyone touched by the school was aware of the quality job it was performing. His full attention was given to each detail that crossed his desk. Students were encouraged by the principal to participate in all of the varied realms of high school, extra-curricular as well as academic. He constantly made himself available to the student body and the staff by hosting meetings and visiting classrooms. A warm smile and words of encouragement were the hallmarks of the principal whose advice was eagerly sought by everyone at the school. As the person who was ultimately responsible for Lakewood, Mr. Hopkins vowed to keep the quality of education that had been attained over the years, while implementing new programs to meet the changing needs of the school.

1. The superb quality of Mark Morlock's written assignments was a source of pride for Mr. Achterman and Mr. Hopkins. 2. A grand tour of the world was skillfully guided by Dewey Kaeka and Leslie Mollin in Mr. Mednick's world studies class. 3. A perfect dialogue was performed for the principal by Ronald Brown and Vonda Anderson. 4. Adela Lopez and Alberto Garcia watched intently as Mr. Miller astonished a very interested guest. 5. Mr. Hopkins' typewriting abilities were carefully critiqued by Mrs. Davis and Aurelio Ramos.

ADMINISTRATION/COUNSELING

No two Lancers were alike. With this in mind, the dedicated team of administrators and counselors at Lakewood set forth to accommodate each individual with a course of study that not only met graduation requirements, but that also fulfilled his career goals. Counselors were well-informed on college criteria and could be approached for guidance or advice on a myriad of subjects, both personal and academic. Administrators also dealt with students on a personal level, guiding them in a direction which would insure their high school success. As Lancers graduated and went on to make lives for themselves, they were sure to remember the careful guidance given them by administrators and counselors.

1. The beginning of a new semester was discussed by Mr. Green and in-coming teacher Mr. Reynolds. 2. Everyone who entered the office was greeted with a friendly smile and a firm handshake from the vice principal, Mr. Severns. 3. As the person who was responsible for activities ranging from homecoming to the prom, Mr. Cole was one of the busiest men on campus. 4. Maria Cao helped Mrs. Johnson with the enrollment of new students at the start of second semester. 5. Finding time to help students was always a pleasure for Mr. Evans. 6. Office aide Greg Lopez and Mr. Beard anxiously awaited the first period bell. 7. Mr. Flood helped Katie Gilon out of a tight squeeze. 8. An enthusiastic pep talk by Mrs. Morris helped John Hust make it through another day. 9. Greg Lopez was pleasantly surprised by Mr. McDowell's evaluation. 10. Senior conferences, when conducted by Mrs. Rigard, were a pleasure, even for Anthony Tartaro. 11. Keeping track of career assignments was a must for Mr. Sulack. 12. Shuffling through program cards, Mrs. Vaughn attempted to re-schedule Carey Mendoza's, classes.

SOCIAL STUDIES

In an ever-changing world, the study of social sciences was an important factor in the ability to understand the world. U.S. history students explored the past and how things progressed, while government classes conveyed the various aspects of the country's political mechanisms and history, from the signing of the Declaration to the latest presidential veto. Contemporary world problems was a popular offering for students interested in the conflicts and relationships of various nations around the globe. In a world that was unpredictable and vastly diverse, the social studies staff successfully imbued their students with a strong sense of what it all meant and how to evaluate it.

1. Eric Smith found Mr. Holzman's lecture a real eye opener. 2. A detailed explanation of the Revolutionary War battles was Mr. Neely's speciality. 3. A double take was performed by Mr. Sparkman as he looked at Shanie Chambers' final examination paper. 4. Great surprise was registered by Cathy Heiss as Mr. Daniels complimented her world studies project. 5. Arianne Shrider cracked up, along with the rest of the class, as Mr. Wigod returned the results of their unit test. 6. John Dintlemann sneaked a quick peek at his grades while Mr. Mednick was momentarily distracted. 7. Mr. Decoudres seemed perplexed by Robin Chronister's term project in his history class. 8. Mr. Dunphy was amazed that his students were so knowledgeable about the French Revolution. 9. Tami Bunnett got some sweet revenge. 10. Rick Molnar diligently worked on his map project to the delight of the ever-watchful Mr. Miltenberger. 11. Mrs. Duvall kept Rachel Pacheco interested in the Civil War.

ENGLISH

Improving grammar and diction skills, as well as enriching the mind with literary masterpieces, were the primary goals of the English department. It was a comparatively easy task for Lancers to discover a favorite course of study thanks to the informative staff and the diversity of classes. Students in British literature were kept busy with Shakespearean plays and the evolving literary history of the European continent. Juniors learned the history of American literature from folklore to Steinbeck. Writing skills were a major part of the curriculum; technique and mechanics were emphasized. The department's concentration on reading and writing skills was instrumental in the improved scores on statewide English tests.

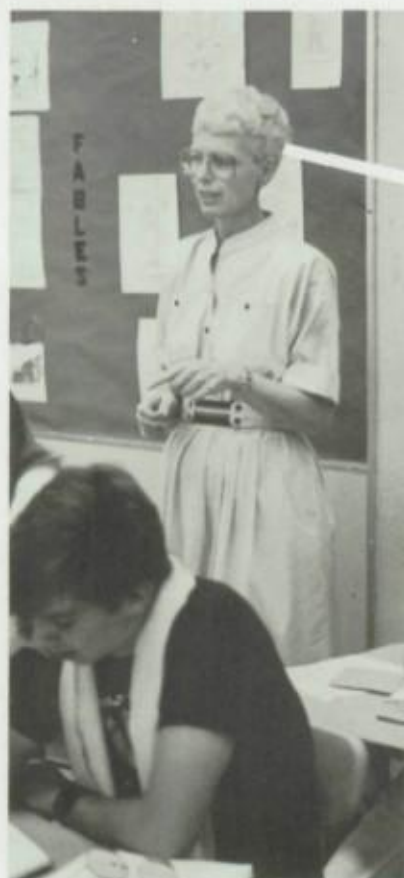

1. An excellent essay was returned by Mrs. Alosa to the extreme delight of Jennifer Cunningham. 2. Mrs. Black was pleased by Carla Kuon's progress on a vocabulary exercise. 3. The importance of William Shakespeare's plays was emphasized by Mrs. Kroll. 4. Miss Hummer reviewed the rules of spelling with Dalia Gomez. 5. Macho film analysis students were enamored by their hero, "Rambo" Genisouski. 6. Short stories came to life when Mr. Achterman read them to his literature students. 7. Ms. Hassel shared her favorite novel with her students. 8. Ms. Alexander took a moment to reflect, as her students busily worked. 9. Climmie Thomas was not amused by Mrs. Cobb's entrance into the world of humor. 10. Mrs. Grubb dreamed of the future as Angelic Mario reviews her homework. 11. Mr. Cunard deftly acted out a scene from "Julius Ceasar." 12. The correct page is pointed out to Harry Robinson by Ms. Fisher.

ART/LIBRARY/MUSIC/HOME EC

7

8

Lancers of both sexes turned to the home economics department for expert tips on how to survive life after graduation. Courses covered vital topics such as nutritional food selection and preparation, as well as caring for children. For creative students, the art department proved to be a haven, offering instruction in drawing and painting, sketching and crafts. The music department catered to Lancers who preferred to express themselves through song. Whether used as a quiet place to study, get references for a term paper or to simply provide an escape from a hectic schedule into the fictional world of a current novel, the library was the place to be.

9

1. Interesting projects that stimulated English students were a specialty for Mrs. Ott. 2. Mr. Rutherford chuckled when Lucio Arellano wanted to see his grades. 3. Ryan Watson looked in awe as Ms. Ober confiscated his note to Matt Roberts. 4. Mr. Northern gave a gentle critique of Ko Vang's well-written essay. 5. "The Great Gatsby" was carefully explained by Ms. Robinson. 6. Mr. Pikop pointed out the correct spelling of the word "Whatshamacallit" to his students. 7. Jaime Mary got some extra help for her art project from Mr. Reyes. 8. Mrs. Vest was amused by the answer she received from Maria Sanchez. 9. Expert instruction on the use of the library was a specialty for Mrs. Gill and the indomitable "Whizbang Gang." 10. Steed Coats was unsure of Mr. Clemens' explanation of a difficult equation. 11. Vibraphone player Gabe Flover got an assist from Mr. Hannan. 12. Betsy Norman and her friends giggled at Miss Frank's explanation of the upcoming unit in parent and child class.

ESL/FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The ESL department helped to close the language gap and to unite all students. It allowed those who spoke a foreign tongue as their primary language to learn English while maintaining a calibre of study equal to those who spoke English fluently. ESL strove to break barriers, whether they were nationality, language, cultural or educational. The foreign language department helped students to broaden their vocabularies and backgrounds. With the increasing number of Spanish-speaking Californians, Espanol was an appropriate choice. German and French were also offered.

1. Dedicated attention to Mr. DeCordes' explanation of the use of a pronoun was given by Alex Alarcon, Cheng, Nget, Bunrat, Ran and Dora Perez. 2. Her class listened intently as Mrs. King explained the importance of proper sentence structure. 3. Mrs. Walsh enjoyed her class as much as Sinay Oeur and Roberto Chavez did. 4. Chinda Sok was made aware of common English idioms by Ms. Alvarez. 5. A riot led by Carla McNeil, Nicki Naylor and Brian Farley mobbed Ms. LeFever's podium. 6. Elizabeth Bolla got caught practicing the ol' masage de pie trick in Mr. Small's Spanish class. 7. Mrs. Slagley quickly cured the noise problem between Jason Gilbert and Debbie Thompson. 8. Patrick Jeff, Sean Stamper, Mark Suggs, David Edim and David Bennett were at the top of Mrs. Stankov's class. 9. Phillip Reineke and Tamara Bundy are perplexed by Mr. King's conjugation exercise. 10. Julie Smith's question bewildered Mr. Garza. 11. Erin Harmon and Cindy Ortiz learned a great deal because Mr. Young's class was both fun and informative. 12. Earl Drego and Chad Bolton could always count on the right answer from Mrs. Robey.

GENERAL/SPECIAL EDUCATION

General education classes, which included health, driver's education and career guidance, provided sophomores with the information they needed to explore the world around them. Whether preparing for a job interview at Taco Bell or delving into possible lifetime vocations, career guidance enabled students to develop attitudes and skills needed in the marketplace. Disease, diet, family life and personal problems, such as drug and alcohol abuse, were closely examined by health students. With the help of driver's education instructors, the long-awaited driver's license became a distinct reality. Meanwhile, students enrolled in special education classes were given highly personalized instruction in order to facilitate their learning.

1. Mr. Strother congratulated Garret Rheberg and Carla Farrso, finalists in the "Quit Smoking" poster contest. 2. Michelle Foreman and Diana Torres helped Mr. Reynolds read the daily bulletin to the health education class. 3. Sophomores Mike Younger and Julie Bart-schi were enrolled by Mr. Ludwig. 4. Mr. Simpson takes a moment to relax. 5. Mr. Rose goes over the game plan as his students looked on in dismay. 6. No one knew the rules of the road better than driver training instructors like Mr. Scott; everyone hoped his best trip would be on the "road" to recovery. 7. Mr. Frank's class discussions were stimulating. 8. Mr. McGrath practiced what he preached — "A closed mouth catches no flies!" 9. Putting in long hours to help his students was a regular habit for Mr. Hungerford. 10. Mr. Moe stretched to meet every challenge. 11. Mrs. Carpenter was actively involved in helping her students.

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics could be studied in varying degrees of complexity, each giving Lancers a different perspective on the use of numbers to solve problems. Students who were college bound could be found in a succession of prep classes. Algebra introduced the world of finite numbers and the various operations employed to find the meaning of "X". Geometry classes were filled with the relationships of points, lines, angles, surfaces and solids used in the measurement of properties. A foreign math language was introduced to trig students as cosines, secants and circular functions became part of the problem-solving process. Math had something for everyone.

1. Mrs. Hamersky reacted cheerfully to a student's question concerning a word problem. 2. Mr. Cramond assisted Brenda Silverstein in deciphering "basic language" in computer mathematics. 3. Mr. Arnold pointed to the chalkboard to explain to Vangie Holly and a gaggle of geometry whizzes how a proper right-triangle was drawn. 4. A tedious algebra problem was turned into fun by Mr. Miner as he helped Felix Mallari. 5. Mr. Stoner became more reliant on the ever-present "X" as one of his algebra students, Chris Kimberly, pelted him with a paper missile. 6. Kevin Blaser looked on with glee as an ebullient Mr. Flynn attempted to strangle Dionne Wall for giving the wrong answer. 7. Eric Soth, Paul Graves, and Chad Lefebvre were just a few of Mr. Seyler's many friends. 8. Mrs. Cape assisted Jonathan Chaney in changing improper fractions to mixed numerals. 9. Mr. Brose showed Sith Phan the correct procedure on the overhead projector. 10. Mr. Lashower and Tiffany Hunt agreed that a joke in between problems helped to soothe the mind. 11. Mrs. Welke was stunned to see that Todd Dietrich was paying attention to her lecture. 12. Mrs. Thompson began her first year at Lakewood with an algebra lesson.

BUSINESS/INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

As America's system of free enterprise soared, so did the curriculum in the LHS business department. Lancers mastered the use of state-of-the-art word processors, computer printouts and data analysis, as well as brushing up on conventional methods such as typing, bookkeeping and shorthand. Still other Lancers chose to direct their studies toward a different job market by enrolling in one of the varied offerings of the industrial education department. Auto mechanics proved useful and marketable, while architectural drafting helped students create the world we live in on paper. Metals and woods produced some of the most skilled students on campus, and the advanced graphic arts class was an especially busy place. Mr. Patten's electronics program was recognized as being one of the outstanding industrial classes in the state.

1. Great interest was shown by Brad Hockins as he received his accounting test from Mr. Melvin. 2. Shorthand assignments turned in by Kelly Cox and Colleen Tierney were carefully checked by Mrs. Harvey. 3. A watchful eye was kept on Patricia Bakalar by Mr. Foerster in typing class. 4. Insurance forms were expertly processed by Ana Padilla and Mrs. Butts in the Project INvest office. 5. Mr. Hopkins shared J.D. McDonald's pride in the typing award he won with the help of Mrs. Davis. 6. No one could explain the theory of conductivity as well as Mr. Patten could. 7. The presses ran smoothly after Mr. Howey fine-tuned them for Marty Yarak and Pete Moreno. 8. Mr. Krebs pointed the way to outstanding architectural design for Ron Creger. 9. Mr. North studied plans for a new work bench that he planned to build. 10. Alex Robles put Mr. Stobbe into a deep trance as he filed away on his project. 11. ## SCIENCE

The science department led Lancers to the discovery of the inner and outer regions of existence. With the aid of microscopes, lab sheets and dissection equipment, biology students absorbed knowledge that dealt with living organisms. Anatomy delved into the complexities of the human body, while marine biology and zoology covered the animal kingdom in the sea and on land. Photography provided creativity along with an understanding of the process of producing images on a sensitized surface. In chemistry, the periodic table became each student's close friend. Whatever the area of study, Lancers in science classes were well-informed.

1. Mr. Rogers was more than happy to take the time to preview a difficult assignment for Shannon Reineke and her friends. 2. Chris Hooper got a kick out of the way Mr. Nicholson computed his final examination grade. 3. Committee work was a regular assignment in Mr. Burger's classes. 4. Tom Hicks was amused by Mr. Hughes' explanation of the cellular structure of plants. 5. Derek Krugar and Scott Hogan were two of the staunchest members of the Matty Lampson Fan Club. 6. First-year photography student Kris Montgomery counted on the irrepressible Mr. Mellencamp to explain proper photography techniques. 7. Mr. Falk was surrounded by students who admired his teaching abilities. 8. Mr. Riley's contagious smile made Roberto Chavez want to learn. 9. Perplexed with a challenging problem, Vicki Yount received help from Mrs. Ohlinder. 10. Debbie Thompson was repulsed by Mr. Miller's pet frog. 11. Demetrius Martinez supervised Mr. Marshall as the teacher went over papers with his students. 12. ## PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Conditioning the body was an important part of the education process at Lakewood. While sophomores were required to enroll in physical education classes, juniors and seniors were able to take PE as an elective. Classes emphasized endurance and fitness through structured activities. Team sports allowed students to socialize and to interact with a wide array of classmates. The rules of tennis, soccer, softball and flag football were part of each class, along with indirect lessons in sportsmanship and team participation. Dance classes were offered to those who preferred to get their exercise from floor movements and choreographed routines. The physical education staff supervised all of the activities, making sure students received the greatest benefit from what was being taught and keeping personal injury to a minimum.

Classified Staff

The classified staff proved to be the backbone of the school; it provided the hard work and dedication necessary to keep every aspect of the school running smoothly. The vast amounts of paper work and clerical tasks that were dealt with on a daily basis were a time-consuming job for the secretarial staff. However busy they were, this group always had a moment to answer questions, give directions or keep the office festively decorated. The cafeteria staff kept hungry lunch crowds satisfied; meanwhile, the groundsmen kept the campus well-manicured and beautiful. Staff assistants opened watchful eyes and made certain that the LHS campus was as trouble-free as possible.
